Nicola Peet left school at eighteen, went to college and then worked at a local airport. After nine months, she went to work for Air France and then she joined British Airways. Four years later she got a new job as a manager. This is what she told us about her job:

“My office is at Heathrow Airport, but I spend 60% of my time in the air. I teach flight attendant and help them with problems. I also go to lots of meetings. My working hours are usually from 8 in the morning to 4 in the afternoon but sometimes I work from one in the afternoon to 9 in the evening. At work, the first thing that I do is check plane times on my computer.

My favorite part of the job is when I go on long flight to see how the flight attendants do their jobs and check on them. Travelling can be hard work. When I come back from a long trip, all I can do is eat something and go to bed. I want to stay with British Airways and continue to travel.”
